

Over the years we have seen a major trend of the OEM's away from single stage topcoats. The majority of OEM colors applied to today's vehicles are effect / metallic colors. This major shift in the market has led Standox to announce the discontinuation of our 2K HS Standocryl Mixing System. Stocks will be available for purchase until they are depleted or until December 31, 2008, (dependent on which comes first). All current HS single stage colors are available within our Standox basecoat / clearcoat system. For customers who still wish to use a single stage topcoat system, Standox 2K MS Standocryl is still available.
